The Strategic National Stockpile (SNS) is the country's national repository of medicine, vaccines, antidotes, and other critical supplies that may be necessary for use in extreme public health emergencies. Each state has its own plan for receiving and dispensing SNS items. Here in Alabama, SNS supplies are distributed by properly trained Public Health employees and volunteers. Program faculty will provide a thorough review of the SNS and how its supplies are to be distributed in Alabama if warranted.

Program Objectives

1. Describe the purpose and goals of the Strategic National Stockpile (SNS).
2. List and understand roles and responsibilities of volunteers at the Point of Dispensing (POD).
3. Describe the sequence of progression through a POD.
